OVERVIEW: This course surveys the fundamentals of the U.S. legal system and process, its evolution and the social policy needs of our society. It will introduce several substantive areas of law, with a particular focus on contracts and applications of traditional legal concerns in emerging technology policy contexts, and will conclude with an introduction to America’s place in the legal world order.

TEACHING ASSISTANT: Emily Jiang, jiangem@wharton.upenn.edu

OFFICE HOURS: Tuesday 1:30-3:00, or send me an email (and it’s not a bad idea to send me an email if you’re thinking of coming by regardless – I’m open for business Tuesday afternoon, but capable of drifting off to the coffee machine). I’m happy to meet on most other days of the week.

MATERIALS: A set of readings customized for this course, available on Canvas. I may add occasional additional readings over the course of the semester.

SCHEDULE: We have approximately 28 classes, and, as you can see, 25 topics to cover, plus some presentations by you. We may adjust the schedule as the semester continues. Nonetheless, you should plan to read the next assignment for the next class, even if we haven’t exhausted all discussion of the current one.

NO DEVICE POLICY: The use of laptop computers, cellular/smart phones, text messaging devices, or other such digital devices is not permitted during class. Any lecture slides I use will be placed on Canvas.

COURSE FORMAT: The course combines lecture, Socratic dialogue, and group discussion. Active class participation is expected. Excellent class participation, as determined by my sole discretion, counts as 10% of your final grade.

GROUP PROJECTS: Later in the semester, I will put you in groups to draft comments on a current government policy, after which you will file the comments with the government agency. You will also present the comments, and the context for them to the class at the end of the semester. You can find some guidance on effective comment writing here: http://eli-ocean.org/wp-content/blogs.dir/2/files/Making-Your-Voice-Heard.pdf.
GRADING:

- Group Projects, commenting on a government policy – 20%
- Midterm exam – 40%
- Final exam – 30%
- Class participation – 10%

MIDTERM EXAM DATE: October 24, in class (subject to modest change)
